Copyright: Requests for permission to publish material from this collection should be discussed with the MHS Images Services Coordinator.

Size: .25 linear ft.

Dates: 1799 -1912

Biographical Note: This collection of items, letters and photographs pertain to the Jones and Larrabee families. Both families were involved in the corn canning business in Portland in the mid-1850s. One factory was located on Riverside St. (now Larrabee Road), the other on Forest Ave. This collection was found in a house at 305 Danforth Street in Portland, Maine. The donor purchased the house from Rufus Jones in 1964.

Many of the letters and documents related to Lydia W. Jones.

Scope and Content: This collection consists of correspondence, family papers, photographs, a J. Winslow Jones Green Corn can label and an engraving of the J. Winslow Jones Portland factory.

Provenance: Gift of George Crockett, 2014.
